

A customer can exist without current flight, hotel, and rental car reservations, considering that they had previous accounts.